Former School Teacher Here Passes Away in Calgary

Miss Anne Yuill a long time resident of Coleman passed away on Friday, March 9, at the age of 71, in a Calgary nursing home where she had been ill for some time.

Born in Stirling, Scotland, deceased came to Canada, first settling in Victoria where she taught school. During the flu epidemic of 1918 she assisted as a nurse and worked many months in this capacity.

She came to Coleman in 1922 after completing a course in the Normal School in Calgary. She taught in Coleman schools until her retirement in 1949. She was Principal of the Cameron school for several years and was dearly beloved by both teachers and students alike.

Miss Yuill was very active in the Red Cross work here, being instrumental in raising some $500 which was used to equip a bed with all accessories in Ward 238 of the Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital in Calgary. The Cameron school children still continue sending donations to this cause for the upkeep of the ward. She continued her work with the Red Cross at their headquarters in Calgary after her retirement until ill health forced her to give this up and enter the nursing home several months ago.

Miss Yuill was very proud of the fact that her birthday was celebrated on the same day as British Statesman Winston Churchill.

Funeral services were conducted from Laydens Memorial Chapel, Calgary, on Sunday, March 11. She is survived by one sister living in Los Angeles, California.

Former Colemanites attending the funeral were: Mrs. J. Naylor, Mrs. A. Ryan, Mrs. W. Jones, Doctor. Ross and family, Miss Peggy McDonald, Mrs. Haines and Mrs. Hillery.

The following is the citation read when Miss Anne Yuill was presented with an Honorary Membership medal of the Canadian Red Cross Society. This award is for provincial (Divisional service) in the Red Cross.

February 25, 1944.
"Miss Yuill, teacher at Cameron School, Coleman, has rendered outstanding service in Junior Red Cross since the year 1922. She organized a branch of the Junior Red Cross at the Cameron School in 1922, and her branch has been in operation every year up to and including 1944.

She has also taken great interest in the work being done by the Coleman Senior Red Cross Branch, and in 1942 and 1943 gave voluntary service in the Junior Red Cross Department of the Provincial office during the period of her summer holidays. Amongst the students in her school there were many nationalities, and through her complete understanding of the ideals of Junior Red Cross, she was able to inculcate the principles of good citizenship, with the result that many of her former pupils are now serving Canada in the armed forces.

Miss Yuill has shown great interest in assisting the parents of her former pupils to

No. 3 Highway Link In Pass Open to Traffic

A new link in the No. 3 highway was opened to traffic over the week-end when traffic was allowed to travel over the newly constructed bridge over the Crow's Nest River in West Blainmore.

Only two-thirds of the new cement and steel bridge is being used at the present time as workmen still have to build a wing on the south side of the bridge to keep high water from undermining the wide structure. The south one-third of the bridge is barricaded off to traffic to afford ample room for the bridge crews to carry on their work.

Even with only two-thirds of the bridge being open to traffic a noticeable difference is experienced by motorists who have had to contend with a very narrow structure for many years. The new bridge is almost three times as wide on the deck surface as the former bridge where many mishaps have occurred.

Len Frayn of the bridge crews has supervised the construction of the four new bridges that have been built in the Crow's Nest Pass during the past two years. The bridges are located over Gold Creek at Frank, over the Crow's Nest River at Frank, over Lyon's Creek in Blainmore and over the Crow's Nest River in West Blainmore.

The new bridges add much to the appearance of the Pass and do not interrupt the scenic beauty of the area. Surfacing of the new road from Bellevue west through Blainmore to Coleman will get under way as soon as weather permits.

Drama Festival Highly Enjoyed

Three interesting one-act plays were presented to an audience of something over 100 in Blainmore on Friday, March 2nd.

Coleman Fans Witness Game of the Year

Last Sunday evening, tackling the Lethbridge Juvenile Reps, the undefeated Coleman Juveniles lost their first hockey game of the year which proved to be a tragic loss and the most thrilling match this season. Before a near capacity crowd, the local lads took a confident 6-1 lead at the end of the second session, then bowed 0 Lethbridge in the finale which ended in a 6-6 tie. After the second overtime period, Lethbridge squeezed that tragic goal past goalie, Joey Joseph, to take the second match of the total goal-home-to-home series 9-8. The Reps will now meet Red Deer in the semi-final home-to-home series to decide which team will meet the northern squad in the finals of Provincial Juvenile Playoffs.

On Friday, March 9th, the local Juveniles played their first playoff match in Lethbridge and witnessed the same tragic situation just mentioned. In the final four or five minutes of the game, the local lads were winning by a 4-2 lead, then they slackened and Lethbridge netted two quickies, thus tying the score. Coleman broke this tie immediately, by a slick combination passing play, but determined Lethbridge scored again in the few remaining seconds to tie the score 5-5. Therefore, the determining factor remained, that whoever won the next game in Coleman would meet Red Deer in the semi-finals. These boys lost this important game last Sunday evening.

This unpleasant situation, proves an excellent proverb, "that a hockey game is not won until the final whistle has blown." The Lethbridge squad has proved this saying, because they never stopped digging or trying, as a result, they won this mood-packed total-goal series by a trim margin of 14-13 in the final outcome. These are the games that hurt deep down and are never forgotten.

Accidents take yearly toll of 1,500 Canadian children

Some 1,500 Canadian children die each year as a result of accidents—more than the number lost because of the ten acute infectious diseases of childhood, points out the Health League of Canada.

Medical science has been successful in reducing the number of deaths from diseases that only a few years ago took heavy toll; but accidents—which are preventable—continue unabated their murderous assault on the child population.

Back in the 1920's, accidents stood in seventh place among causes of children's deaths in Canada. By 1946, the same age group (up to 15 years) saw accidents move up to fourth place on the list of killers. During the first year of life, they stand in eighth place, during the second year third, and during each year after infancy and up to 15, accidents claim more young lives than any other listed cause.

"This is a needless waste of lives, through traffic accidents, drowning, fire, poisoning, electric shock, falls, and the misuse of firearms," states the Health League. "Parents and other adults have it largely in their power to save these young lives by exercising care themselves, by good example, and by careful training of our youngsters very early in their lives."

Women on Chicago's election board were ordered recently to leave their girdles at home on certain days. Officials wanted to run lie detector tests in connection with investigation of a scandal. Said girdles cut down rate of breathing, an important indication read by the machine. Without girdles, who needs a lie detector to chart the gals' true motives?

Every year's a leap year when the gal's determined and the fellow's naive enough to think that he does the chasing.

Tinted windshields reduce visibility nighttime driving

REGINA.—Losses in visibility at night due to tinted automobile windshields may range from 10 to 45 percent, according to a recent bulletin issued by the University of California and received by the highway traffic board.

The bulletin, containing a report of a private study, said analysis shows that with tinted glass, particularly automobile windshields, the visibility distances on the highway at night are always reduced, sometimes seriously. The losses in visibility are greatest under conditions that are critical from the driving standpoint.

To compensate for the loss, the report stated, a driver would have to reduce speed by as much as 50 percent to be certain of stopping the same distance short of a roadway obstacle.

Thought drowned, 78-year-old woman returned after 45 years

A 78-year-old woman "returned from the dead" has been welcomed by relatives and friends in a joyous reunion on crowded Central Railway Station at Sydney, Australia.

The woman, Mrs. Margaret Leroy, left home 45 years ago. Her father told her six children that she had been drowned when the old steamship Waratah sank without survivors in the Indian Ocean during the fierce storm of 1909, and they believed it.

But Mrs. Leroy was not a passenger on the Waratah, and said she sailed to Perth, West Australia, on another ship in 1910. She said she tried to book her passage on the Waratah, but the ship was "booked out," so she decided to sail to West Australia in the steamer Katoomba, which left Sydney six months later.

"By missing the Waratah fate was kind to me. I suppose you could say I missed almost certain death," said Mrs. Leroy.

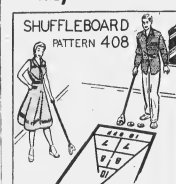

Mrs. Leroy explained she had not contacted her relatives since 1910 because "I did not like writing letters."

Three weeks ago she asked police in Perth to trace her relatives. They did, and her four sisters and two brothers, who are still living in N.S.W., were overjoyed to learn their long-lost sister "Lottie" was still alive. They asked her to come to Sydney and visit them.

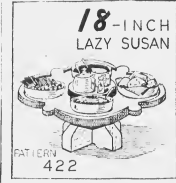

A little grey-haired old lady wearing a bright red coat smiled brightly as she stepped off the Melbourne Express.

New theory on sex of baby

Prof. Hajime Uda of Tokyo's Meiji University has come up with quite a theory on how to tell whether women will have girl babies or boy babies.

If the husband is well fed, he's likely to father girls. If the husband is "tired out, perennially undernourished" he will tend to "sire male heirs more frequently," says the professor.

Uda says he made a survey of 10 towns and villages before reaching his conclusions. He found more girls born in fishing villages, where the men are well nourished from a hefty fish diet.

Uda concludes his theory hasn't got much support from others so far.

Six varieties hard spring wheat recommended south Alberta

OTTAWA.—Six varieties of hard red spring wheat are recommended for production in southern Alberta for 1956, states Dr. M. N. Grant, Lethbridge Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture.

These varieties are Chinook, Rescue, Thatcher, Saunders, Lake, and Selkirk. In making a final choice of the variety to grow the farmer must consider the special characteristics of each, and finally choose the one which is best adapted to his area and to the problems that exist on his farm.

Thatcher is recommended for all the wheat-growing areas of Alberta. In years of moderate rainfall this variety is consistently at the top for yield, and its strong straw and good milling and baking quality make it an all-around excellent variety.

Where sawflies are a hazard, however, the varieties Chinook and Rescue are recommended. Both are solid-stemmed wheats possessing resistance to the wheat stem sawfly. Chinook is superior to Rescue in milling and baking characteristics, and possesses more drought resistance than either Thatcher or Rescue.

The new variety Lake is recommended in 1956 for the Hanna-Provost area. It is drought resistant, high yielding, and is eligible for top grades. Lake is later in maturity than Thatcher, and like Thatcher is not resistant to race 15B of stem rust or the wheat stem sawfly.

The early-maturing variety Saunders is recommended for the foothills area where fall frosts are a hazard.

For the irrigated areas the variety Lemhi is recommended. This is a soft white spring wheat used in the production of flour for cakes and cookies. It is usually grown under contract to a milling company. If hard red spring wheat is grown under irrigation the varieties Selkirk or Thatcher are recommended. The resistance of Selkirk to stem and leaf rust is a desirable characteristic for the irrigated areas.

Quality potatoes from storage

Potatoes that become watery or mushy when cooked have probably been stored at the wrong temperature.

L. G. Denby of the Experimental Farm at Summerland, B.C., advises that potatoes should be stored in a dark well ventilated storage, fruit cellar or pit in which the temperature can be held at 38 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit. The humidity of the air should be 80 to 90 percent. Under these conditions most late varieties will remain in sound condition throughout the winter.

Potatoes should not be used immediately after they are removed from storage conditions. If stored at a low temperature, a high proportion of the carbohydrates in the tuber are converted to the form of sugars. Potatoes in this condition are inclined to be sweet and almost always watery when cooked. Potatoes should be removed from storage and kept in a warm place at temperatures of 70 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit for a week or 10 days before they are prepared for the table. This higher temperature will cause the sugars to change into starches. When cooked they will be white and fluffy and appealing to the sight as well as to the taste.

Funny finale to piano concerto

A piano concerto had just been completed at Houston, Texas, and the 3,000 spectators watched with interest as two stagehands came out to move the piano.

One started to shove it—and the left front leg came off in his hand. There was a nervous spasm of giggles as he struggled to support his corner of the piano. The giggles erupted into a roar as a third man ran on stage to help the two.

The sell-out crowd may have noticed Symphony director Leopold Stokowski turn a fraction of the podium to see what was up. But only the three stagehands heard his smiling crack: "Comedians!"

That point in the earth's orbit which is most distant from the sun, 94,500,000 miles, is called the "aphelion."

MAN OVERBOARD!—That will be the cry this coming summer, if many sea sprites such as Norma Seward up-anchor under transparent sails. Fashioned of synthetic resin, the new-type sail was shown recently in New York City.

Metal leggings protect hunters

Men wearing something similar to shiny stove pipes on their legs while tramping the fields around Arcadia, Florida, are no longer an unusual sight.

They are using Alvie Twiss' aluminum leggings, designed to protect hunters and outdoorsmen against fangs of poisonous snakes.

Twiss began making the leggings after he missed by one step a cold and angry rattlesnake.

The leggings extend above the wearer's knees in front and are lower in the back to allow the leg to bend. At least three persons have told Twiss they were struck without harm by rattlers while wearing the metal protectors.

A basketball shooting hint

Sports College often is asked if it is true that practicing shooting with either hand cuts down your ability to shoot with your normal hand.

We usually answer this question as follows. If sufficient time is spent practicing both right and left hand shooting, then it's a good idea, because the man who can shoot with either hand has a great advantage. But if the practice sessions are short, then it is best to concentrate on developing the shooting skill of your best hand. To develop skill takes time, and when you are facing a problem such as this the only thing to do is to make the time at your disposal the deciding factor.

Some coaches whose success makes it important to give their players careful consideration claim that once the team is selected at least 60 percent of practice time should be spent on shooting.

The individual player can get in extra practice by rigging up a basket in his garage or basement. Such a move may make all the difference between being average and outstanding player, because it will give the player a chance to practice with either hand—a move that will greatly increase the scoring potential of anyone who learns this skill.

Should you drink milk before games?

Another question that is very often asked of Sports College staff members is whether it is a good idea for athletes to drink milk as part of their pre-game meal. It's been a tradition in many sports for some time to remove milk from this particular meal, particularly when the athlete is competing in an event demanding endurance of any kind.

However, this idea has no basis in fact. Milk actually is a very excellent food to include at this time. It is easy to digest, provides energy in the form of lactose sugar and helps you sustain a feeling of physical vigor because it is a high protein food.

If you like milk, we recommend that by all means you include it as part of any meal—before or after sports activity. Some athletes prefer skim milk at this time because it is even easier to digest than whole milk.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

TIME NEARS FOR JESUS TO GIVE HIMSELF

Lent is almost upon us. Ash Wednesday, February 15, marks its advent, and it is a good time to meditate upon the ministry of the life of Jesus.

He said concerning himself: "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."

One aspect of that life might be summed up in the saying: "He went about doing good." But that was only one aspect. Jesus was not only a doer of good, a minister bringing help and comfort, blessing as He went about Galilee and Judea.

His ministry was to go far beyond his earthly life. It is everlasting in its nature.

The significance of Jesus is the Gospel which He brought to men. Christian ministers of today are called "ministers of the Gospel," and happy is the church and community that has as its religious leader a true minister of the Gospel.

Jesus brings and the news of God's grace to men, and of that grace there is no limitation in availability nor in effectiveness.

Jesus' courage was as sublime as His faith and His graciousness. He who warned His disciples to "beware of men" had no fear of men or of what men might do to Him.

Jesus, the archetype of ministers, was concerned only in finishing the work that the Father had given Him to do.

Now is the time to meditate on the life which leads to the cross and to an undreamt of glory which lies behind the shadow.

On The Side: R. V. Durling

It has long been maintained by many medical men that an uncontrollable desire to consume hard liquor in the morning indicates the drinker is on the way to a drunkard's grave. There also has been a poetic warning with regard to this situation which goes as follows:

Drink in the morning,
Doctors say take warning
And claim your inevitable fate,
That of an incurable inebriate.

A change for the better

Are you writing a novel and if so have you decided on the title? Don't be too hasty as to that angle. Keep trying for a better title if the first one doesn't look too good. Margaret Mitchell first titled her celebrated best seller "Tomorrow is Another Day," and then changed it to "Gone With the Wind." Thackeray titled a novel "Pencil Sketches of English Society," and then changed it to "Vanity Fair." Philip Gibbs called a book "What the Censor Forbade," and then changed it to "Now It Can Be Told."

Scintillating sidelights

Those who should know maintain that bobbed-hair and similar short clipped type hair-styles make a woman's head look smaller. And that the smaller a woman's head appears, the younger she looks... Of all participants in amateur sport, fishermen spend the most money for equipment. It is said that fishing enthusiasts buy one-fourth of all types of sporting equipment sold in the U.S. The term "bedside manner" as applied to physicians is not of modern origin. Over 2,400 years ago, Hippocrates "the father of medicine," wrote: "A doctor must have a good bedside manner and must be calm and equable even when those around him are agitated and excited." The following expressions, considered by many to be examples of modern slang, are all found in the works of Shakespeare: "Done me wrong," "She falls for it," "Not so hot," and "Beat it."

A costly mistake

How much did your first baby weigh at the age of nine months? At that age an infant in Palermo, Sicily, weighed 35 pounds, measured nearly three feet, had 11 teeth and drunk six pints of milk a day... Speaking of teeth, can dentists be hired against professional errors? I heard of a Chicago dentist who was alleged to have pulled two teeth by mistake and was sued by the patient for $100,000.

A note about noses

"When I want any good headwork done, I always choose a man, if suitable otherwise, with a large nose." That's what Napoleon Bonaparte said. It is, therefore, very interesting to learn that Wellington, who overcame Bonaparte at Waterloo, had a very large nose. As for the headwork of other men with large noses, consider "Heady Eddie" Arcaro, America's greatest jockey, who is also referred to as "Banana Nose." Then there's that great comedian, Bob Hope, whose nose is laughingly referred to as a "ski jump."

NATIONAL HEALTH PLANS
 RBy Ambrose Hills

"My goodness, you're surely not going to oppose a national health plan! You'll lose all your readers! Why on earth do you write against things like health?"

How do you answer a letter like that? I've tried a dozen approaches. "Dear lady, I do not oppose things like health. I am all for good health. But I DO oppose this new national health plan because I am sure that more people could have more health for less money."

I have a friend who, last year, put off buying a new car so that he could pay the bill for a heavy siege of hospital expenses incurred by his family. In his case, since he was not a salesman, he was able to get by with the old car for one more season. The hospital and medical bill really hurt, but he valued the health of his family, and he paid them.

But he knew another family, in the same town, who also incurred hospital bills. They also bought a TV set and they have their case of beer every week-end, and many other luxuries. They didn't pay their doctor. Furthermore, the family needs dental care, and won't get it. They would rather spend $400 on a TV set than pay $200 for a set of teeth.

There will be thousands of instances where the man who does care, the man who saves and sacrifices because he values health, will have to foot the bill for folk who couldn't care less! The government will lump us all together, treat us all the same.

If the proposed national health plan would give us all some common security against disastrous hospital and medical bills, I would find it hard to oppose. I know that a series of unfortunate illnesses can wreck the finances of even the most prudent family.

But in the main, it is far less costly and, I suspect, far more effective, when citizens insure themselves by joining the Blue Cross or such services as the Manitoba Medical Service. Plans of this kind are made by people who value health; government plans, on the other hand, (and I mean all governments, Liberal or Conservative), usually are made by people who value votes.

A BARBER'S POWER

When it comes to building a satisfactory life, I think my barber could teach most men a lesson. One guiding principle to which he adheres constantly, has brought him countless blessings.

When he bought his first shop, in a small Manitoba town, he made a decision. Never, under any circumstances, would he say anything harmful or mean about any person in town. He knew, from experience, that a barbershop can be a point of harmony or a center for gossip and dissension; and he determined that his shop would try for the harmony and avoid the dissension.

It wasn't easy. He opened shop on a Saturday and the benches were lined. An extremely frugal farmer came in and had his hair cut. When the farmer left the shop, a customer said, "Did you see the pained look on old Joe's face when he paid up?"

It would have been easy for the barber to join the laughter and add to it. Instead, he said, "Well, anyhow, he paid up. I bet he never left a bill unpaid anywhere in this town. Bet he don't owe a nickel to any one of you fellows. I never heard any case where Joe was a dead-beat — he always paid his share."

Customers came to know that if my barber cut their hair, they could walk out of his shop afterwards and know for sure that there would be nothing derogatory said about them the moment they closed the door. Indeed, they knew that if any one started throwing sarcastic remarks around, the barber would quietly set them right.

My barber is a good barber; he is also a good man. He has done well. He has succeeded financially, and he is happier than most men. I think he has earned all this. What do you think?

SCOUT NEWS

The first Court of Honor meeting of the reorganized 1st Coleman Rangers Troop was held following the general troop meeting on February 28.

Those present were Scoutmaster Rev. F. A. Dykes, Patrol Leaders Michael Hill, John Cousins, Jerry Lonsbury, Second Gordon Nelson, Neil Lonsbury and Jimmy Dibblee.

Matters arising for discussion: 1—Selection of Patrol emblems. These were Beaver, Wolf, Eagle. 2—Equipment - need for a new Scout progress chart, pocket record books.

It was decided to try to get the two uninvested scouts qualified for their Tenderfoot by a further training session on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Dykes agreed to try to get Mr. Williams, the district commissioner, over on Saturday to pass the two boys on their Tenderfoot and to arrange for the investiture at a meeting of the Blairmore troop Monday, March 5.

Jerry Lonsbury was elected as scribe for the troop. His duties consist of keeping minutes of the Court of Honor meetings, to carry out any correspondence for the troop, and to write the material for a troop column in the Coleman Journal when such a column has been arranged.

Michael Hill was appointed the troop treasurer. It was his duty to receive and record the payments of Scout dues. To turn over any excess finances to the group committee at the agreement of the Court of Honor. To arrange payment for troop supplies, and to fulfill any other duties pertaining to the office of treasurer.

The selection of a troop call was left with the suggestion that all give thought to the matter and to bring forth suggestions. Final choice at a later meeting.

Dues were set at 25c a month. It was decided that the troop emblem would be CL-R, standing for 1st Coleman Rangers.

Following the general meeting of Tuesday, February 7 at which the activities were tying knots and lashing, and for those new Scouts not yet invested the first Tenderfoot work of learning the law and the promise, the second Court of Honor was called to order by the Scoutmaster, Mr. Dykes.

It was moved by John Cousins and seconded by Neil Lonsbury that the scribe write to the A.M.A. for copies of Alberta drivers manual, a booklet very useful in the second class work of Scouts. Carried.

Because of other meetings taking place in the hall it was moved by Neil Lonsbury and seconded by Gordon Nelson that our meeting time be changed from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. and also included in the motion the suggestion that Tuesday night meeting be devoted to working and that Saturday afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 be set aside for the recreational side of our work. Carried.

The Beaver patrol was appointed duty patrol for next week.

Jim Dibblee seconded the motion made by John Cousins that Neil Lonsbury and Gordon Nelson make a rack for the Scout staves. Carried.

A motion stating that registration dues be in not later than February 21st was moved by Neil Lonsbury and seconded by Jim Dibblee. Carried.

Gordon Nelson moved that the meeting adjourn. Carried.

Coal Subventions Will be Continued

OTTAWA — (CP) — Federal subsidies on the movement of coal to market will be continued at their present levels through the 1956-57 fiscal year.

The cabinet has accepted a recommendation of the Dominion coal board to extend the subventions and also decided to continue a special subsidy until a United Kingdom order for Nova Scotia coal is completed.

Mines Minister Prudham made the announcement following the cabinet's action, which means the subventions will stay in effect until March 31, 1957. The government has placed $9,210,000 in its annual estimates to cover the assistance.

The subventions, officials estimated, will be applied on about 3,750,000 tons of coal. This is about the same as the total expected for the current fiscal year that ends March 31.

Nova Scotia is expected to get the major share of the treasury payments — about $7,150,000 on regular coal movements of 2,750,000 tons plus $300,000 as a bounty on the production of coke. In addition the remaining 100,000 tons of its 340,000-ton British order for slack coal will be aided at a top of $2.30 a ton.

Saskatchewan's aided movement is expected to total 275,000 tons costing $237,000. Saskatchewan coal is assisted by 20 per cent of the freight rate up to a 1c ceiling.

Alberta, it was estimated, will move some 655,000 tons under subventions costing $1,750,000. This also includes the British Columbia Crow's Nest Pass area alongside the Alberta border.

Of the total, 400,000 tons is expected to be used by the CPR, 160,000 industrially in northern Ontario and 95,000 for domestic purposes in Ontario and the eastern Prairies.

The Alberta subventions: Railroad and industrial coal to Ontario, $4 top; domestic coal to Ontario, $3.50 top; industrial coal to Manitoba, $1 top.

A small amount of bunker and export coal — perhaps 20,000 tons — may be moved from Vancouver Island mines. The subvention estimate is $75,000.

While the estimated payments for the coming year are lower than the expected $10,900,000 for the present year, the total amount moved will be about the same because of higher prices for United States coal, which lessens the amount needed to enable Canadian fuel to compete with it.

Sues For $40,228 In Auto Accident

Peter Babiak, Calgary mechanic, filed suit in Supreme Court on Friday against the estate of a deceased car driver for $40,228.20 damages which he alleges resulted from a 1953 car accident.

Filing the suit, against S. G. Bannou, a Blairmore lawyer acting as legal representative for the late John Robert Coates, Babiak asserts he was driving west on No. 3 Highway two miles east of Burmis September 5, 1953, when struck by a car driven by Coates.

According to Babiak, the accident was due to the negligence of Coates, for which he is asking $35,000 general damages and $5,228.20 special damages.

Babiak filed a further application Friday asking that Bannou's default judgment be given since no statement of defence has so far been entered.

Alberta's going places with

Good health is the most valuable of all resources of any country. In Alberta the Department of health is responsible for safeguarding this resource by seeking to prevent disease or, when it strikes, to assist in the recovery of the afflicted.

Today Government Health Services are offered on a scale that was financially impossible a few years ago. A large share of the provincial income is diverted to maintaining the highest possible standard of public health.

Last year the overall expenditure for health services in Alberta — nearly $24,500,000 — was 7½ times the amount spent ten years ago.

What does this money provide for the people of Alberta? It provides direct health benefits in the way of:—

1. HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL SERVICES—such as hospital grants; supervision of hospitals; free maternity hospitalization; hospitalization of various pensioners and recipients of mothers' allowances, and the provincial hospital insurance program.
2. PROVINCIAL LABORATORIES—distribution of serums and vaccines; examinations and analysis for the detection and control of disease.
3. MENTAL HEALTH—hospitalization, medical and nursing care and treatment for the mentally ill.
4. SOCIAL HYGIENE—cure and control of venereal diseases through clinics and lectures.
5. TUBERCULOSIS DIVISION—free diagnostic and treatment service for all tuberculosis cases.
6. CANCER—diagnosis, radium, X-ray, surgical and cobalt "bomb" treatments for cancer sufferers.
7. CEREBRAL PALSY—diagnosis and treatment clinics.
8. RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS CLINICS—90 days' free hospitalization and treatment for Albertans under 25 years of age.

EDUCATION AND RESEARCH FOR BETTER PUBLIC HEALTH

1. PUBLIC HEALTH BENEFITS—literature, lectures, radio programs and motion pictures to encourage better health practices.
2. COMMUNICABLE DISEASES—recording the incidence of communicable diseases; providing information on the most effective methods of prevention and control.
3. ENTOMOLOGY—studies and practices the control of insect-borne diseases.
4. SANITARY ENGINEERING—supervises water supplies and sewage disposal systems; inspects hotels, restaurants, slaughter houses and dairies in rural communities.
5. NUTRITION—conducts educational work for better eating habits and more nourishing diets.
6. VITAL STATISTICS—records all births, marriages and deaths.
7. PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING—organizes health programs for rural communities.

Students Very Active In Jr. Red Cross

An increase of more than 20,000 members in the Junior Red Cross during the past year, was announced by Dr. M. R. Bow of Edmonton, chairman, in his annual report to Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, presented to the 41st annual meeting held March 15 and 16 at the Banff School of Fine Arts.

During the school year 1954-55 a total of 79,545 students in 2679 branches carried on the Junior program of good health, service to others and international understanding. Of these students, 11,207 were high school students of 401 classrooms.

Alberta's juniors showed their greatest interest in the Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's Hospital, said Dr. Bow, by contributing $14,456 in funds and continuing the supply of towels and other equipment through the collection of coupons. They also sent fresh and canned vegetables and many other gifts to the hospital.

In its International Understanding program, Alberta Juniors sent shipments of toys, quilts, health kits and baby layettes to Korea, Greece, Hungary and Lebanon at a value of $1,868.55, as well as over $3,000 in funds. Another case of baby layettes was sent to welfare teachers in the Northwest Territories.

Alberta students sent 84 correspondence albums to various countries through the international exchange and received 92 in exchange while 150 selected pieces of student art were sent to National Headquarters for eventual distribution among other countries. Tape records of songs and commentaries on school and community life were prepared also. Dr. Bow commended particularly the International Study Centre at Kingston, Ont., last August which was attended by six Alberta juniors.

Two Water Safety Schools To Be Held Easter Week

Two Canadian Red Cross instructor training schools in swimming and water safety are to be conducted during Easter week, April 2 - 7, in Edmonton, and in Calgary. These schools are open to young men and women, 18 years of age and over, who are of senior swimmer calibre, and who, preferably, hold some life-saving award. However, in many centres, it is impossible to obtain any sort of instruction in swimming, and the prospective instructor may never have taken any swim tests, and thus, our entry requirements are to a certain extent, flexible to meet the individual.

A senior leader training course for candidates 16 and 17 years of age, involves a similar course of instruction as is offered in the instructor schools and is run simultaneously with that course.

The Calgary school will be conducted by the former director of swimming and water safety for the province, Mr. K. A. Hodgert; the Edmonton school by the director of swimming and water safety, Mr. A. G. Gilmet, and his assistant, Miss Claire Aubrey. Any persons interested should address all correspondence to the Swimming and Water Safety Department of the Canadian Red Cross at 9931 - 106 St., in Edmonton.

In past years we have received wonderful co-operation in having these most important schools publicized as widely as possible in order that we might have the best qualified of Alberta's young people enrolled as candidates for these schools, and we would again appreciate your assistance.

Yours sincerely,

A. G. Gilmet, Director,
Swimming and Water Safety,
Alberta Division.

Appealing circular from Alberta Peace Council on the danger of H. bomb tests has been broadly discussed with all its dangerous radiation to the humanity as a whole.

The most impressive was the statement quoted from professor Tage Kemp, chairman of a session on the effect of radiation on heredity, which said: — there is no doubt that radiation causes changes in hereditary processes. . . . He was referring to hereditary changes that would produce a race of nation 'composed of hereditary deficiencies, abnormalities and diseases', (Toronto Globe & Mail, August 16th, 1955).

In view of the danger from radiation of nuclear tests, his Holy Pope Pius the XII have appealed

Advertising...

Modern advertising is a necessity to hold and build business. Be proud of your business, of the goods you have to sell, of the services you have to offer in your particular line. Show the progressive spirit and the desire to serve by advertising. Do not hide your light under a bushel — proclaim far and wide who you are and what you have to sell and where your place of business is, for public memory is short, and advertising is a powerful aid to all types of businesses. Moreover, people as a general rule shop where they are invited.

"COME TO ME"—The lady eager, at right, isn't longing for "Mr. Basketball". She just wants to snatch her opponent ball-headed. Obscured by the ball is the pretty face of Erlanger Hospital's Nurse Jaynet Friett, playing in a Civic League game at Chattanooga, Tenn.

RUSTY AND KENO—Sir Winston Churchill's lion cub Rusty, right, makes an appealing picture with his playmate Keno at the London Zoo. Both are just over a year old and recently out of quarantine. Keno was bottle fed.

BIGGER HAIRDOS FROM PARIS—Paris stylist Carita Alexander has dreamed up a new hairdo for those who are tired of chopped up Italian haircuts. Above the German dancing twins Alice and Helen Kessler model a new Oriental inspired coiffure which ruffs the hair up and away from the forehead and lets it fall full at the sides. Hats and hairdos are the big news at the current Paris fashion shows.

SHED' WALK A MILE FOR HIM—So the ecstatic expression on the lady camel at right would indicate. But the blisful bactrian at left had better head for the oasis. She'll make him wait for a date unless he promises love that will endure until the sands of the desert grow cold. This early spring nonsense is going on at the zoo in Paris, France.

CANADA'S FIRST KNOWN ESKIMO CURLERS have formed a rink at Churchill, Man., under the teaching of skip Flight Sergeant Bill Beaton, Winnipeg, of the RCAF. With but a few months curling experience, the Eskimos have taken quickly to the roaring game and show amazing agility on the ice. This rink is to participate in the Manitoba provincial bonspiel at Winnipeg by Sept. 1.

plan for air traffic control. According to the report, 90,000 military and civilian planes now operate over the United States. Passenger airliners alone have an average of four near-collisions a day, according to the document. All other airborne traffic is said to confront similar potential danger.

WORLD HOCKEY TROPHY—TCA stewardesses Dolores Evans and Bette Youmans hold World Ice Hockey Trophy, which was in their custody for delivery to Cortina, Italy, and the World series which was played in conjunction with the Olympic Games. It was won last year by Penicton Vs and by Russia in 1956.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

thunder shower

—By NORMA MOSHER

JOAN ROBERTS called me the other day. Rather surprisingly, for I hadn't seen her in years, and after the usual exchanges, "How are you? It's too bad we don't see one another more often," she got down to the point.

"Did you know your cousin Ethel was being married next month?"

"I was aware of the fact," I replied, rather grimly. "I've already been to three of her showers."

"Well, since I'm to be a bride-maid, I simply have to have one, too. I've decided on next Tuesday, and I thought you might like to come."

"Do you? Have to have one, I mean. It seems to me that Ethel has done rather well for herself. Her father has built her a house, and her friends seem to be furnishing it for her."

"Oh, Grace, you always were such an odd person. No wonder you and Ethel never got along. She's naturally expecting me to have a shower for her, and I'm expecting you to turn up, because you know how people talk, and of course I want just as big a turn-out as the other girls have had."

Well, I couldn't give much of an argument to that one, so it was settled. I was to come on Tuesday, with "nothing too extravagant now, just a little reminiscence."

This was a "miscellaneous" shower, which, as everybody knows, means that you can bring anything from the back-end Aunt Hattie sent you for Christmas to the pillow slips you picked up during the January sales for $1.98. Our household, unfortunately never seems to yield any hidden treasures at the right moment, so I bought a rose bowl at the little gift shoppe up at the corner, thinking that Ethel's husband could use it as a brandy snifter in an emergency, and, if I knew Ethel, he would need it.

I didn't get it wrapped until the last minute, as usual, and, as usual, I found that there wasn't a bit of fresh ribbon in the house. I finally made do with some taken out of the baby's sweater, and freshly pressed, it looked fairly presentable, although the bow was rather flat.

But I still had the pearls to wrap up. Much as I disliked the idea, I had to pass them along to the next bride in the family, although Ethel didn't seem like family to me, because until recently we hadn't seen her in ages. I didn't even know whether she remembered the pearls, but the shower would provide a good opportunity to give them to her. So I did them up the best I could, not forgetting the little card that always went with them.

I arrived fairly early, hoping to get a few words with Joan about the good old days when our hearts were young and gay, but her time was pretty well taken up receiving and introducing the various guests. I smiled vaguely around the room, making the usual remarks about the weather and the way prices were going up. The odd familiar face took stock of my dress, figure, and hair-do, and I was glad that I'd taken time to manicure my nails that afternoon.

You know the old routine by now. When the scout posted at the door to watch for the guest of honor called "Here she comes!" the lights were turned out, and there was comparative silence broken only by a few giggles from the "teen-agers. Then, as Ethel stood in the doorway, everyone yelled "Surprise!" on went the lights, and she put on a fairly convincing display of amazement—"Really, I didn't dream—I hadn't the faintest idea—Joan just asked me over because Harry was going bowling tonight—a shower for me!" while we all knew very well that she'd been in on things from the start.

Well, she finally got settled on the little stool under the huge white bell, with the usual pink paper streamers flowing around her. Then the real business of the evening began. It looked like a pretty lengthy session, because there were two laundry baskets (covered with pink paper, of course) full to the brim with be-ribboned packages. I thought that Joan had done a pretty thorough public relations job this time, and she was going to be considerable.

"We all sat around in the usual circle, with Ethel opening the gifts and Joan reading the accompanying cards. Then they were passed on to be duly admired and exclaimed over, and returned via the circle to Ethel. The donor of the seventh gift, by tradition to be the next bride, turned out to be a stoutish matron who lived down the street and had three strapping half-grown boys.

The tissue piled up around her neck. The ribbon piled up around her neck. Why do they always hang the ribbons around their neck? That's one I've never been able to figure out. Everyone else, as well as Ethel, was running out of adjectives, but she certainly wouldn't run out of over-proof-ware for a long time to come.

It was getting late, and we were hopefully sniffing the fragrance of the coffee brewing in the kitchen when Ethel reached "way down" for the last package. The white paper and red cord looked rather plain after all the other pretty wrappings, and I was sorry that

TOKYO ROSE—Mrs. Iva Ikuko Toduri D'Aquino, better known as "Tokyo Rose," the honey-voiced Japanese radio broadcaster who appealed to Allied troops to desert during World War II, leaves Federal probation office in Chicago. Mrs. D'Aquino got the terms of her probation from Ben S. Meeker, who told her she will have to report once a month.

I hadn't taken time to dress it up a little. "This must be something extra," Ethel said, giving away the fact that all present and all presents had been accounted for in her busy little mind.

She gave an embarrassed laugh when she saw the shabby box, anticipating another joke. But when she opened it, there was only the string of small, well-worn pearls. Not real ones, of course, but well matched and graded. As Joan read the card, a burst of incredulous laughter rose throughout the room. "A pearl for every year of happiness when you wear these on your wedding day! Why, it isn't even signed!"

Ethel's voice was shrill over the buzz of comments in the room. "This must be a joke. As if I would wear those—those pearls with my wedding gown. I think the person who did this should own up. And I have a pretty good idea," turning and looked pointedly at me, "who it is."

I stood up. "Why of course, Ethel, I'll own up," I said quickly. "And I did hope that you might wear them at your wedding. But I can see that it was a mistake on my part, and I'm truly sorry for what I did. But there's one consolation." I couldn't help adding when I saw the look of triumph in her eye. "You'll not get a duplicate of these at another shower. You see, they belonged to our grandmother."

Greenland's milder climate changing economic structure

Greenland's polar climate has moderated so consistently that communities of hunters have evolved into fishing villages.

Sea mammals, vanishing from the west coast, have been replaced by codfish and their varieties in the area's southern waters.

Denmark, as the administering authority, cites these and related major shifts in the economic situation on the peninsula.

During the last 160 years, the summation shows the native population has quadrupled, and in the last 50 years it has doubled. As of December 31, 1952, the total is given as 24,768, of whom 23,360 were native Greenlanders. The majority of the population has been so mixed with Scandinavian blood since the beginning of the eighteenth century, that it can no longer be said to be of the Eskimo race.

Tendency of the temperature of both the air and the sea to rise, has produced the dominant structural change of the economy of Greenland and in the lives and occupations of its people that has characterized especially the last two decades.

This structural change from a community of hunters to a community of fishermen has made its mark on the development of the country, and will remain one of its most prominent features in the future, it is predicted.

The former natural economy has gradually been replaced by a monetary one, the cod being sold in the world market and the needs of the population being filled in the main by imported goods.

Previously, the principal occupation of the people had been the hunting of sea mammals, and all their requirements were filled through the proceeds of such hunting.

Few outlets for industrial activity exist in Greenland. The rapid growth of the fishing operations during the last half-dozen years, however, has stimulated such development on a minor scale.

In addition to the processing of fish for export, the repair and building of boats and engines for the fishing trade and for coastwise fishing has expanded.

A cannery with a quick freezing unit and a daily capacity of three tons is now in operation at Christianshab, and in 1952, another modern cannery for mutton and lamb was built at Narssaq, with its own power plant and water-works.

Improved economic conditions have also stimulated housing, of improved quality, and many Greenlanders are now erecting new homes with the aid of government loans.

Jainism, a religion of India, teaches its devout followers not to injure any living thing.

New program helps homebound handicapped

Many of Saskatchewan's handicapped citizens are unable to leave their homes or to go out into the world to seek regular employment.

To answer their needs, a new March of Dimes service, known as the "Homebound Program," has been established and is growing rapidly. At the present time, more than 60 handicapped individuals are participating in this program and many others are being contacted.

Through this homebound program, these handicapped citizens are able to obtain work which they may carry on in their home. They are provided with the material and equipment needed for a particular job. As they produce the articles required, they send them in to a central office in Moose Jaw where they are sold, either on a contract basis or through a retail outlet.

Articles made by handicapped participants in the home include, leather work, stuffed toys, jewelry and other special articles. In all cases, the individual is paid for his or her labor on the finished item when it is sold, thus enabling the individual to gain at least some financial independence and satisfaction in knowing that, they too, can be productive citizens of our community.

Handicapped people interested in obtaining further information on this program are invited to contact the Handicapped Citizens Association, 506 Scott Block, Moose Jaw.

TRY AND STOP ME!

By BENNETT CREEP

A safety razor manufacturer offered TV star Groucho Marx a fortune to endorse his product.

"Brides," he promised, "I'll plaster your picture on billboards in every subway and railroad station in America."

"I'm not the man for that at all," Groucho assured him. "I already have a mustache."

A Montana cowboy wasn't having any of that "Kindly-fasten-your-seat-belt" nonsense when he boarded a New York-bound strato-liner at Phoenix recently. "Young lady," he informed the stewardess firmly, "for nigh on twenty-five years I've rode everything I ever mounted, and I don't aim to be saddle tied at this stage of the game. Let 'er buck! I'll ride 'er!"

RED CROSS

Reports to you who give

PICTURED above is another phase of your Red Cross in action. Swimming instruction as well as recreation in the water is being provided once a week by trained volunteer Red Cross instructors in Regina for a group of young people who have been crippled by Poli-o or Cerebral Palsy. These young people are going to be able to swim in spite of their disabilities. Red Cross has been a pioneer in the field of treatment and rehabilitation for crippled children. The first patients were accepted in 1919. Since then well over 6,000 Saskatchewan boys and girls have been given medical care and treatment, which might otherwise have been denied them. The Junior Red Cross makes the aiding of handicapped children one of its major projects. In 1949, the Juniors, together with the Senior Society, provided the funds for a beautiful 56 bed hospital in Regina for their less fortunate brothers and sisters.

The above class is only one small part of the Swimming and Water Safety Programme, for during the past year, Red Cross instructors taught more than 17,000 pupils at 90 points in the Province. Instructors are given a 30-hour course in teaching methods at the Society's expense. This programme, and 15 other services are, of course, made possible only through the generosity of all Red Cross supporters.

Bill has asked me to pass along a quick, easy way of preventing the chrome on the family car from rusting during the wet, slushy driving days ahead.

With a soft cloth simply smooth a liberal coating of floor wax over bumpers, headlight rims, door handles, etc. Don't polish these surfaces afterwards, simply leave them untouched. When Spring comes the polish can easily be removed with another cloth dipped in gasoline. In the meantime, you have a protective film over the chrome that is scarcely noticeable and easy to apply.
